CHILDHOOD

foreword . . .

The staff of this yearbook, published annually by the Junior Class of Maryville College, has attempted to present a true picture of the typical Maryville College student. Of questionnaires which were distributed to each student in September, 1953, three hundred and eighty-one were filled out and returned. The results are the record of this book—"A Profile of You." We present it now to the students of Maryville College.

— this is a —

By Bob Brand, junior art major who favors abstraction. He explains his water color as such:

"As I see modern youth, their outstanding characteristic is simplicity — for that reason they are portrayed without facial features. The flowing, curved lines represent calmness; the lines connecting the profiles signify the equality of the male and female of today. Strong religious faith is expressed by the uplifted heads while the concise lines show their oneness of purpose."

— profile of you — who you are—

The kids who work: Jim Crawford, Carolyn Lime, Charles Rogers, Nancy Rideout, Don Moffett, discuss details for Athenian-Bainonian rush week musical.

The MC trio: Don Williams, Ester Lerch, and ice cream.

Typical Girl: Mary . . . 19 years old . . . five feet four . . . 125 pounds . . . elementary education major . . . light brown hair . . . blue eyes.

Typical Boy: Bill . . . 19 years old . . . five feet eleven . . . 150 pounds . . . science major . . . brown hair . . . brown eyes.

Typical Student: Presbyterian . . . Republican . . . Scotch-Irish . . . one brother . . . one sister . . . son of a middle-class business man . . . from family in which at least one member has a college degree . . . chose MC because it was a Christian College within your financial grasp.

The girls who play: a huddle at the half of a Varsity volleyball game.

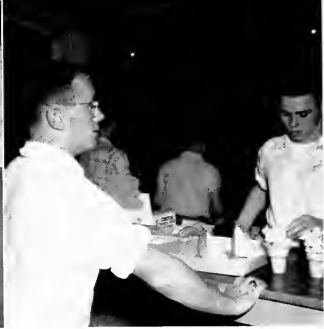

The pretty co-ed: Miss Nan Spivey holding banner of the South.

The hungry boys: outside dining hall at 12:25.

Learn to dance: every Tuesday night Bill Stein's dancing class instructed by Cary Valentine, Dixie Conner, Ruth Orr and Bill Stein.

Work on student help program: Jack Maxwell dishes out supplements to the dining hall diet.

—what you do

Work in school and during summer—everything from picking peaches to warehouse work . . . love to dance . . . sleep or read in spare time . . . date at school, but don't go steady . . . will marry one to two years after graduation . . . use Anderson more than any other class building . . . have at least one week-end away each semester . . . spend one hundred dollars on clothes each year . . . more than one dollar a week for entertainment.

Study in the room: Miss Faith Nollner doing her share of something the typical MC student does four hours each day.

Go "all out" for sports:
Marshall England practices
a smashing serve.

To the student center: typical student comes here at least three times a week.

where you go

Now . . . attend various club meetings, activities . . . Bainonian, YWCA, YMCA, Alpha Sigma . . . regularly to Sunday school and church . . . to grill for "socializing" once a week.

After graduation . . . 45% continue study, 35% work, 12.5% marry, 7.5% enter military service.

To the library: Don Moore crams in a little more knowledge before exams start.

To the dances: rated as top-campus social event by 45%.

To the classroom: Doris Glad, preparing for a career in commercial advertising probably spends more hours per week in classes than the typical student's eighteen hours.

To the dining hall: Abby Crosby serves seven hungry students in Pearson's dining room which is "home" to the 520 who eat there each meal and claim the food is good.

To football games: the favorite spectator sport brings a hearty cheer and the thumbs up! cry as each game begins.

That sororities and fraternities would not fit on the MC campus and that the four societies are adequately fulfilling our social need. Above, the Bainonian grid girls get ready for the "powder puff" game.

—what you think—

That defense is everybody's job: John Graves and Peggy Graham along with one-hundred and sixty-three other MC students do their share by donating blood during the annual blood drive sponsored by the student council.

That special studies and comprehensives benefit all students although both have greatest value for those planning graduate work. Above, Joyce Lingenfelter, music major, taking notes on notes.

That student government has shown a definite improvement, but feel it needs additional support and respect from both students and faculty. Above, entrance to Pearsons on campaign day.

Rate faculty, good . . . college plant, good . . . social life, average . . . school spirit, good . . . favorite professors: Hunter, Orr, Queener, Jackson . . . feel YM-YWCA's are most valuable MC organizations . . . would like honor system for tests, examinations . . . approve college stand on automobiles . . . feel spiritual growth definitely aided by MC Christian emphasis . . . would attend MC if Negroes were admitted . . . think United Nations is necessary to achieve world peace, expect eventual success, hope for increasing co-operation . . . 50.5 per cent favor Universal Military Training one or two years after high school—look at it as the proverbial "ounce of prevention."

That MC dorms provide the needed home-away-from-home feeling; here Jane Kirkpatrick and Ann Callahan decorate Baldwin's Christmas tree under "Robbie's" watchful eye.

Rush Week: The six days in September in which freshmen are enticed and upper classmen exhausted.

A "chapel" on the hill again: the magnificent structure in its beginning stages is eyed by Charles Partee and Eleanor Cantrell.

Adee-adee-adee-oh! Helen "Junior" Davis, freshman from Washington, D.C., adds a new cheer and brings forth some of the ol' spirit.

Students and faculty enjoy an evening together on the football field at the S.S.O. sponsored by the sophomore class for the benefit of graduating seniors.

The men congregate for their Saturday evening meetings. Above, Alpha Sigmas conduct their business.

The boy and the girl: Bob Ramger and Levinia Lee looking like the typical MC couple who date, but not on the "steady" basis.

president

RALPH WALDO LLOYD

B.A., B.D., LL.D.

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, a native of Friendsville, Tennessee, completes his 24th year as president of Maryville College in November, 1954. He was graduated from MC with a B.A. degree in 1915. For two years following graduation he was instructor and athletic coach at Westminster College in Salt Lake City, Utah, where he met his wife, then teacher of French and German and dean of women at the college. They were married in 1917 and have two sons and two daughters. He received his B.D. degree in 1924 from McCormick Theological Seminary and an honorary D.D. degree from Maryville in 1929. He has two LL.D. degrees, one from Centre College and one from the University of Chattanooga.

Dr. Lloyd was ordained as a minister of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. in 1923 and has served as pastor to churches in Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania. He has been an interchange preacher to Great Britain two different years and has served on many church committees, both Presbyterian and interdenominational. He is a member of the central or executive committees of the World Council of Churches, the National Council of Churches, the World Presbyterian Alliance and other bodies, and is chairman of the Presbyterian Commission on Inter-church Relations. He has served as president of the National Conference of Church-Related Colleges, the Pan-Presbyterian College Union and the Tennessee College Association, and has written numerous articles and addresses published in various educational and religious journals.

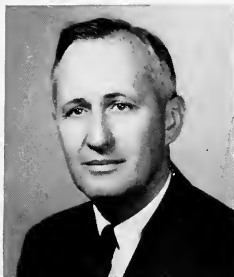

He became president of Maryville College in 1930 and as such has the general oversight and direction of the college. During Dr. Lloyd's years of service many changes have been made at the college; its curriculum has been reconstructed, its accreditation widely extended, and such programs as special studies, comprehensives and student government have been inaugurated. The college campus has been enlarged and most of the buildings have been remodeled. The most notable buildings erected are the Fine Arts Center and the Chapel, costing together more than $1,000,000. Plans are now underway for the construction of a new dormitory to house one hundred women students.

President and Mrs. Lloyd's home, "Morningside," is in the College Woods.

A familiar sight on the nation-wide choir tours is this sign snapped in Latrobe, Pennsylvania, informing the city of the evening concert.

Of outstanding service to both campus and community, the Maryville Vesper Choir does not limit itself to sacred music, but samples delightful folk and contemporary songs, and serious oratorio music as well. This carefully selected group of singers, under the direction of Harry H. Harter, contributes regularly at weekly vespers and at other featured campus services such as Baccalaureate, February Meetings, and Commencement. Especially appreciated on the hill is their spring concert, a complete review of all music sung on tour. Surrounding towns and local functions also benefit from guest performances of the choir.

This year the choir will tour after the school year is completed, and the time will be extended to over two weeks. Among its audiences will be the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Detroit and the National Convention of Presbyterian Women at Purdue University, LaFayette, Indiana.

art activities

Especially excellent among this year's various art activities were the three main gallery exhibitions featuring Mr. Beard's European water colors, Chagall's etchings of the Fables of la Fontaine, and a modern water color collection including originals of Rouault, Cezanne, and Marin from the Museum of Modern Art. Also of great value and interest was the personal gallery lecture of Ferdinand Warren and Marie Harper on art and sculpture borrowed for exhibition from Agnes Scott. The annual student show featuring art work from all classes (children through majors) was its usual success.

Among the other varied offerings of the art department were credit and non-credit applied courses, town people's night classes, one for a

GEORGE CALDWELL
President

The Maryville Playhouse, organized mainly to produce at least three major full length plays a year and help in the production of the presentations of Experimental Theatre, plays an active and important part among campus extra-curriculars. It unifies the efforts of all fields in theater work, for to advance in Playhouse standing one cannot work in one phase. Actors must do work behind stage, and stage-hands are required to appear behind the footlights.

LEFT:
Top: "Good-Bye My Fancy," Caldwell and Edwards.
Center: "Bell, Book and Candle," Stein, Williams, Buckley.

Membership in Playhouse is automatically awarded to anyone who takes part on stage or behind the scenes of a production. Points are accumulated for each task and twenty-five points in two fields affords the title of Player. Forty points in three fields are requisite to the title of Master Player.

This year's major plays were "Bell Book and

"Antigone" White, Crawford.

This common give and take is beneficial in obtaining cooperative unity of effort in campus productions, as well as in affording excellent experience to those planning future theatrical work.

Playhouse holds a few meetings a year (more are not feasible as the members are busy rushing out productions) where it chooses committees and has informal programs.

Candle," by John Van Druten, "The Lady's Not For Burning," by Christopher Fry, and "Family Portrait." Experimental plays included Fry's "A Sleep of Prisoners," and Shakespearean excerpts presented arena style. The spring productions were presented in our new theater equipped with an excellent stage house, a wagon set-up for changing scenes, and new lighting facilities.

Among its twenty-eight members are the Y presidents, class presidents and elected representatives, Inter-Club Council president, Echo and CHILHOWEAN editors, and WSGA president. Among this year's achievements have been the rewriting of the Inter-Club Council constitutions, a revision of the Town Night plan, the introduction of coke machines into the women's dormitories, and a new "Book of Law" in which is collected and classified all legislation enacted by the council.

The main push of all council activity this year might be considered its constant effort to unify all student activity and bring it into a better working relationship with the faculty and administration.

Cooperation within the women's dormitories and coordination of dormitory life with the general campus program is the purpose of the Women's Student Government Association. Elected representatives from each class and house presidents of each of the women's residence halls meet bi-weekly with Mary Jim Bevan, president, as a coordinating council to discuss problems and plans for the smooth functioning of dorm life. Working in cooperation with the council are the floor chairmen and Town Night checkers elected within the dorms to carry out the WSGA program.

"To unite in the desire to realize full creative life through a growing knowledge of God. To determine to have a part in making this life possible for all people. In this task to seek to understand Jesus and to follow Him."

This is the stated purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association, to which each girl on campus automatically belongs in an active or inactive capacity as she wishes.

Among the activities of YW are a Sunday program for worship; dorm and all campus devotions; social events including a hike and a party; services to the community including Y radio programs and various mission activities; services to the college including the annual faculty reception; and services to new and old students including the M book and welcoming program of Nu Gamma.

Ranking highest among its projects is the Thanksgiving Barnwarming program put on for the enjoyment of college and community and the benefit of some worthy cause.

BARNWARMING—

"Story Book Land"—this year's Barnwarming theme—lent itself well to the ingenuity of all working on the program. A charming duo-set of a glittering palace ballroom and spider-webbed kitchen filled one side of the gym, while Humpty Dumpty, Snow White, the Hare and the Tortoise and wishing well booths added to the make-believe atmosphere. The little kitchen maid, wooed and won by her dashing prince charming was gaily complemented by the tap dancing kitchen chorus and graceful ballroom waltzers.

The proceeds of all this fun and hard work went for milk for a Korean War Orphanage—a worthy cause for a great show put on in a wonderful spirit of service and fun.

"To unite all men of the college who desire to strengthen the spiritual life and influence of the college; to promote growth in Christian character and fellowship on the campus in Christian work, particularly by and for the students." This statement from the Young Men's Christian Association constitution avows the purpose of service and Christian leadership in campus life that is the keynote of their entire program. Membership is nominal or active, as the student wishes, and for those who do wish to participate, the activities offered are varied and interesting. The Artist Series, intramural athletics, services to the community, devotions in the dorm and on campus, inter-racial work in the settlement mission, Y radio, and the Y store are among the opportunities for fellowship and work. Featured campus contributions include the Ten Key Men program culminating in the big annual watermelon pow-wow for new students and campus-wide Barnwarming at Thanksgiving.

The Ten Key Men program conceived two years ago, and put into practice last year, has become an accepted facet of Y and campus life. Originated to help acquaint freshmen men students with Maryville and aid in their adjustment to campus life, the program is the keynote to the success of the big-little brother plan. Ten upper classmen selected by the vice-president of YMCA for their qualities of leadership, and Christian character, keep in contact with the program to check on its continuing functioning after the first weeks of school. This affords added assurance that each incoming man will have a personal contact and individual attention upon his arrival on campus.

Organized in 1921, Writers' Workshop, has since offered an excellent opportunity for creative writing among students and faculty. Membership is limited to 25 persons including both faculty and students. Students must be members in good standing of the Junior or Senior class. New members are elected by secret ballot at the end of each year according to ability and interest. All English faculty members are ex-officio members if they choose. Each member submits one original manuscript—poetry, essay, short story, or prose work each semester. This is read by the author and criticized by another member at the weekly Monday afternoon meetings.

As a major project, Workshop publishes "Chips" which contains the ten best selections of the year as determined by a vote of the members. "Chips" is distributed among the student body and acts as a permanent record of the best numbers of the year.

student volunteers

HOMER RICKABAUGH
President

Affiliated with the National Student Volunteer Movement, Student Vols have a two-fold purpose of accomplishing the world-wide mission of the Church of Christ by either going into service as foreign or national missionaries, or serving in any way with time, talent, or gifts to promote the spread of Christianity. Here at Maryville, Student Vols is for all who are interested in Christian witness, service and fellowship anywhere—campus, country, or world. The program is planned with this in mind, to give information and inspiration through reports of the work of the church all over the world. Speakers (especially returned missionaries), films, slides, panel discussions, and exchange programs with other colleges are included. This year's theme, "To Know Christ and To Make Him Known," reflects this emphasis.

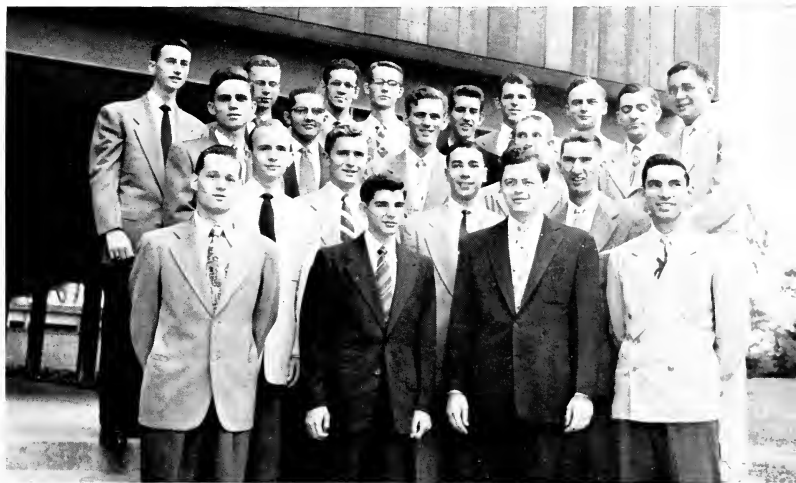

The Pre-Ministerial Association, organized for the promotion of the Christian spirit on campus and in the world, the advancing of the knowledge of scriptures, and the encouragement of those preparing for the ministry, meets every other week for spiritual and educational purposes. Membership is voluntary, with dues the only stipulation. As a group, the Pre-Mins participate in most of the intra-mural sports. The annual spring Pre-Min banquet is one of the highlights of the year. Of special value is their sponsorship of services in the county jail every Sunday.

participation in the four societies' skit night program to sewing cushions and curtains for the brother society, Alpha Sigma. Among the featured highlights of every year's activities is the rush week, a gay three days which provides a wonderful outlet for all the society's talent, and a good time for the rest of the campus. This year's rush week theme, Mardi Gras, certainly fulfilled its title with the gay splash of confetti and song these gals put on for us.

Enjoyed at the weekly meetings are such varied programs as exchange panel discussions with Alpha Sigma and laughter filled game nights.

BOB DUFF

BILL DAVIS
President

Alpha Sigma's stated purpose "to promote fun and fellowship for the men of Maryville," added to her motto, "Let us acquire wisdom and power by moving forward" give us a good picture of what makes this lively organization tick. Among the activities sponsored by the society are a bowling league, Christmas card sales, a week-end hike to the Smokies, and rush week and skit nite programs.

A new feature of special interest this year is the new meeting place in the old Chatter Box building. Refinished and furnished by the lads themselves (aided, of course, by Theta!) their new home promises to be one of the most frequented spots on campus. Among the programs enjoyed in the new meeting place have been exchange panels with Theta, and an art and slide lecture by the Beards, our art instructor and his wife.

The oldest society on the hill, Athenian, founded in 1868, well fulfills its aims of "fun with a purpose, fellowship to develop initiative." Their well-rounded program for this year has included an Athenian team in all intra-mural sports, a play written and directed by members of the society, a week-end hike, and the ABC show, honoring six girls from their sister society, Bainonian. Their weekly programs have been widely varied and interesting—panel discussions, lectures, and exchange programs with Bainonian. Among their new projects this year have been the sale of Hay clan plaid scarves, the authentic Maryville plaid, and the writing of two new society songs, one a fight song, and one a serenade.

To the girl with an eye for fun as well as more serious matters, Bainonian fills each specification. Named by the Greek word "going forward," Bainonian has a three fold program—social, educational and cultural, all three carried out in an effort to afford good times for all participants. Programs emphasizing each of these phases have included speakers, joint meetings with Athenian, and chapter-sponsored skits and shows.

Among the years events are the Green and White Banquet, Skit Nite, the powder puff football game with Theta, and Rush Week. "Hop to Heaven," set the campus right down on Paradise Parkway for three days of out-of-this-world fun. "Cherubs' Chow" menu cards on the dining hall tables, the "Heavenly Herald Daily," newspaper, and silver stars on the side walks had everyone walking on air.

The installation service for new girls was held on Willard House lawn this year — just one of the new approaches to old traditions enjoyed by this society.

Corresponding to the YMCA Ten Key Men program is YW's highly effective Nu Gamma. Consisting of fifteen sophomore girls chosen by the YW Cabinet for outstanding qualities of friendliness, leadership, and Christian character, Nu Gamma's highlighted activities are a tea at the Lloyd's residence, Morningside, in the woods, and the hilarious Hen Party, given second semester. More important than these, however, is the excellent program of making new girls feel at home on Maryville's campus before they arrive. This is accomplished by individual correspondence between Nu Gamma leaders and the girls in their groups, and a follow-up of counseling and friendship throughout the year.

Membership is conferred upon qualified debaters, according to merit, as a "badge of distinction, proficiency, and honor." The name, Pi Kappa Delta is significant in that it means "the art of persuasion, beautiful and just."

Besides their new uniforms, band members are enjoying a new band director this year — Mr. Ralph Moore, a "regular little dynamo of energy and ideas." New marching formations and an authentic Highland Fling to real Scotch bagpipes has added sparkle and interest to this year's band routine.

Also important among the year's activities is the annual band concert. Featured in this year's concert program were such popular selections as Lavall's "Band of America March," Strauss Waltzes, Overture to "The Desert Song," and Copland's "Outdoor Overture."

The eighteen members of the Maryville orchestra under the direction of Ralph Moore have presented two concerts this year. Also prominent among their contributions to the campus at large have been their fine accompaniment of Handel's "Messiah" in the fall, and the concerts played by senior piano majors during the year. Open to members of both the faculty and student body, the orchestra serves a two-fold purpose of enriching the campus musical life and providing enjoyment and experience for its participants.

girls' choir

For those who enjoy singing in sheer fun, as an extra curricular, Girls' Choir, under the direction of Miss Edrie Sellick, offers the very best opportunity. Included in its public performances are the Vesper services for which it sings at various times during the year, its prominent contribution at the beautiful Christmas Vesper service, and a spring light opera put on in cooperation with the Men's Glee Club. This year's opera was Victor Herbert's "The Fortune Teller"—a witty whimsical number full of charming songs.

social board

Social Board, one of Maryville's most important organizations, has as its responsibility the provision of an adequate and varied social program that is enjoyable and worthwhile for the student body. Included in this program are such activities as the Community Sing, Freshman mixer, operation of the Student Center, after dinner dances, and the arranging of the calendar. The planning of Saturday night activities and all dances is also under its direction. The board consists of members of both the Student Body and faculty, meeting regularly to insure a systematic carrying out of the program.

football season

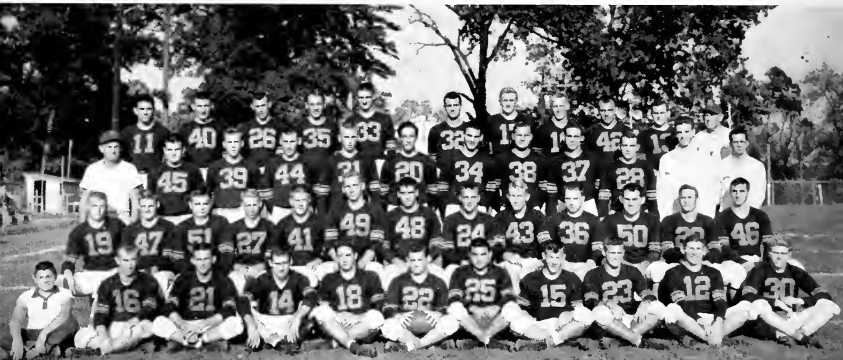

Nineteen fifty-three brought about a successful football season and also the answer to a vital question: could the Highlanders revert to the one-platoon system and compete in form with all opponents? This was answered by an admirable 4-3-2 record. The strength of the squad was built around nineteen returning lettermen, capable reserves, and many promising freshmen.

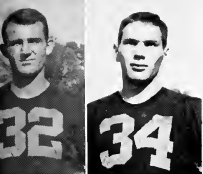

The opening game saw an outclassed Hiwassee College on the wrong end of a 55-6 score. Every player dressed saw action in the hapless victory.

The Shepard boys, Jerry King, and many others showed promise of a well perpetuated ball team.

Traveling to Alabama the following week, the Scots had to settle for a 0-0 tie, with Jacksonville State. The weather conditions for their contest could be described as "wet, sloppy and cold." The rain bogged down all passing and Maryville threatened a score only twice during the "see-saw" battle. Without a hint of prejudice, this game would have been a victory for Maryville on a dry field.

Returning home the following Saturday, the Highlanders edged a powerful Centre eleven, 13-7. Again the team shone with a direct scoring punch and well coordinated execution of plays. Bob Shelton proved his worth in engineering the squad from the quarterback slot.

The fourth game was the greatest and most important victory of the season. Before a hysterically tensed crowd the determined grid men upset a favored East Tennessee State in the dying seconds: final score, 26-20. Many fans claim it was the best football they had seen on Honaker Field. The Highlanders machine clicked in all respects behind the Shepards, Berrong, Garren.

KEN SHEPARD, JERRY KING.
Team captains

A fatigued and over-determined Maryville team dropped the next one to Emory and Henry as it wound up on the wrong end of a 7-0 score. The Highlanders actually scored three times, but all were called back by the officials.

A large Homecoming crowd saw the valiant Highlanders lose a rough game to highly favored Newberry College by 13-7. The strong South Carolina team took advantage of a couple of bad breaks and came through the victor yet the home team drew praise in its close defeat.

An open date was converted the following week to a benefit game with the University of Tennessee "B" team. The purpose was to finish the payment for the new authentic Scotch-plaid band uniforms. The giant-sized Volunteers, despite their weight advantage, could not compete with the precisioned Highlanders, who came out with a 7-0 victory. Hedrick, Harris, Newman, and King sparked the victory that night.

Arch rival Carson-Newman invaded the grid-iron the next week and tripped a lagging MC team, 7-0. It was a hard-fought battle, but the team lacked its early season punch that night.

The last game took the Highlanders to Bluefield, West Virginia, to tie a determined Concord State team, 6-6. With one or two more breaks this could have been a sure victory. King, Ken Shepard, and Garren closed their college careers with sparkling performances. Shepard and King were later named honorable mention on the Little All-American team.

In both record and appearance the squad proved its strength and gave relief from the worry concerning the "dark days" of the 1950 and 1951 seasons.

Strickland puts the ball where it belongs . . . action in a practice session.

As this book goes to press the Maryville five holds a 7-3 record with twelve scheduled games left. The latest recorded score was the 105-43 trouncing handed to Johnson Bible College.

In games so far the Highlanders have shown considerable good form and with more practice should finish up with a fine record. The squad composed of seven lettermen and several promising newcomers has shown a versatile attack.

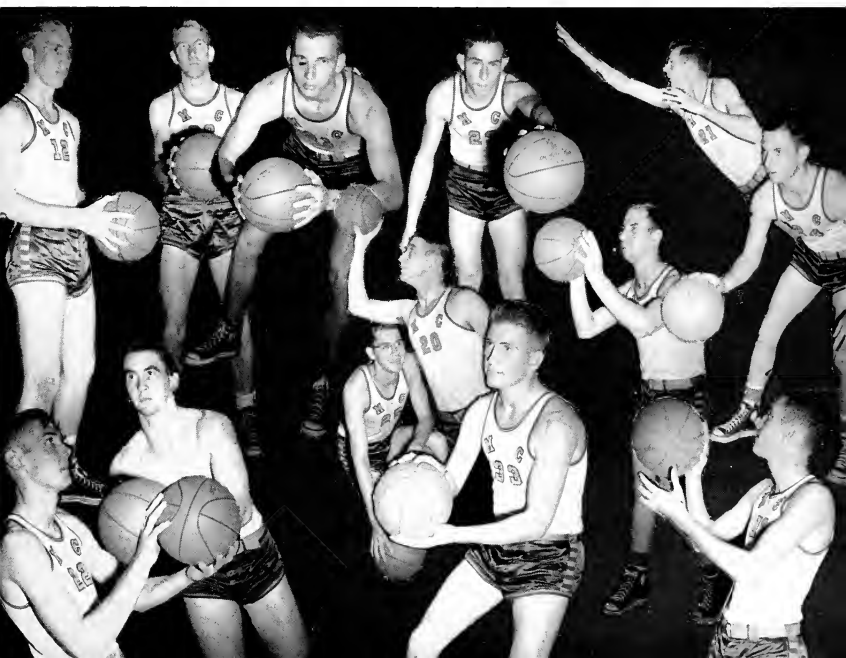

Opening up the season the Highlanders downed neighboring Hiwassee, 61-38, but were trounced the following game by powerful T.P.I., 100-52. The next one proved to be a thriller with the local five edging King College, 79-78. The next two contests finished up victories over National Laboratory and Johnson Bible College by scores of 87-67 and 83-71, respectively. The second meeting with Hiwassee was more competitive as the improved Hiwassee team fell behind, 76-70, after leading the entire second half. In the last two games the Highlanders defeated the Oak Ridge National Lab for the second time and dropped to Milligan, 75-57.

"Rapid Rabbit" Abbott and "Jarin Jack" Keny have paced the attack so far with pleasing performances. Abbott playing his last season on the hill will go down in the books as one of the most spectacular to perform here. Bob Shelton, "Ace" McWilliams, and Bob Patterson have been in their usual good form while newcomers Bill Strickland and Bill Wallace have given pleasing performances. Up from last year's "B" team, Lynn Sexton is by far the scrappiest player on the court. Building up the reserve strength are Bob De Lozier and George Henry.

The twelve scheduled games left on the schedule should prove exciting ones if the Highlanders hit their true form against such foes as Emory and Henry, Chattanooga and Tusculum.

As this book goes to press, the Maryville matmen have shown considerable promise in three matches. Weakened somewhat by the '53 graduation, Coach Davis has built some potent huskies into determined grapplers. Two matches with the Knoxville YMCA and one with Sewanee have been well earned victories for the Scots.

Night match . . . Gilbert begins the struggle.

The test still lies in the power-laden schedule, but with more experience and practice they will be hard to stop. Matches are scheduled with the University of Chattanooga, Middle Tennessee State, Emory University, and Auburn. The highlight of the season is the S. E. C. tournament held at Vanderbilt. Maryville has always been noted for its showing at this tournament.

Baseball and Spring are synonymous at Maryville according to Coach Honaker, who is known as one of the sport's greatest teachers. 1953 saw the Highlanders maneuver to a 12-4 record in stiff competition.

Sparked by nine returning lettermen the team stood two and three deep in each position. Introducing the season on the local diamond MC defeated Miami, 14-11, and 9-2 in a two-game series. In the next twin bill they downed Hiwassee, 17-4, and 4-2, showing great strength in the hitting department. Still riding a smooth road they downed L.M.U., 3-1, and the professional Maryville-Alcoa twins with a proud 4-2 score. The Highlanders went down by a close 3-6 to the Tennessee Volunteers in the next close contest, but bounced back to slaughter King College, 10-1.

After edging the Maryville-Alcoa twins again 6-2, the Highlanders dropped one to L.M.U., 3-4, on a road trip. Returning home they couldn't stop East Tennessee's hitting power and went down, 9-10, in a close one. The Honaker men split the next two by downing Milligan, 8-5, and bowing again to the strong Volunteers of Tennessee, 1-9. Hitting to true form the local clouters moved over East Tennessee State and Carson-Newman by 6-4 scores, closing out the season with their pleasing record they smothered Milligan in a lopsided 19-0 fracas.

cross country

The Highlander harriers competing in one of the most enduring sports on campus showed excellent form this season. With three returning lettermen and a group of iron-winded recruits, Coach Johnson built a well-balanced squad. The University of Tennessee edged the local sprinters in the first meet, but the improving Highlanders tied a strong Davidson team in the following week. With heart-breaking one-point defeats the Highlanders dropped two meets to Sewanee, but bounced back to edge W. J. Bryan University for a consolation. Georgia Tech and Tennessee proved to be too strong for Maryville as they ran by the "never say die" locals.

To highlight and close the season, the Highlanders brought the trophy home for the second straight year from Bryan invitational meet. In their best form of the year they breezed by W. J. Bryan University, Emory University, and Berry College.

Rickabaugh, Ingels, Payne, McWilliams, McMillan, Drum, Shackelford.

The University of Tennessee and Sewanee were the only teams able to stop the hustling racquet men on the courts during 1953. Coach Johnson combined his squad into a strong machine that dropped opponents in single and double matches. Victories were over the University of Chattanooga, Milligan, T.P.I. and L.M.U. A strong East Tennessee State team fell before the Highlanders in the first meeting, but were trounced in the return meet to seal up an excellent season for the Scots.

With few lost by graduation the promises for the next season are encouraging.

pep committee

Although Pep Committee functions for a relatively short period of time it plays a most important part in MC school life. During football season the committee members appointed by Chairman, Dixie Conner, arranged for trimming of the field, parades, pep rallies, post-game dances and the highlight of the season, Homecoming week-end.

"Ma" Queener watches the volleyball tournament Chillies vs. Howies.

To take the place of the defunct women's intercollegiate program, MC offers Women's Varsity, an organization designed to encourage participation in various sports by recognizing efforts with points toward a letter, sweater, or both.

The two teams, Chillies and Howies, which meet at 3:30 and 4:30, respectively, twice each week vie for championship in such sports as volleyball, basketball, soccer, swimming and softball. The '53-'54 results show the Chillies on top as this book goes to press.

men's "m" club

One of the most popular activities of varsity competitors on campus is membership in the "M" Club. Requirements for membership are to win a varsity letter and prove worth as an all-around sportsman. The club brings together different types of athletes in a firm fellowship and worthwhile organization.

The treasury was raised this year for participation in making the benefit football game a success. Working together they enjoy meeting, planning, and organizing worthwhile projects and recreation.
